DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-12 and 14-21, drawn to a reconstituted viral membrane.

Group II, claim(s) 13, drawn to a method for producing a reconstituted viral membrane.

The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The claims are directed to a reconstituted viral membrane comprising a lipid bi-layer, fusion protein, an amphiphilic adjuvant and an optional additional antigen. This reconstituted viral membrane can fuse with target cells. However, because Kozlov et al. (Traffic, 2002, Vol. 3, pages 256-267) studied membrane fusion between cells and engineered lipid bilayer particles that contain fusion proteins for binding to target cells. Furthermore, even though Kozlov et al. do not teach including adjuvants, one skilled in the art would apply these particles to hosts with adjuvants, no special technical feature exists for groups I and II as defined by PCT Rule 13.2, because it does not define a contribution over the prior art. Note that PCT Rule 13 does not provide for multiple products or methods within a single application. Because the technical feature of Groups I and II is not a special technical feature, unity of invention is lacking.

Election of Species

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

A. A specific amphiphilic adjuvant as stated in claims 3, 4, 16-18.

I. If applicants elect lipopeptide, a specific lipopeptide must also be elected from claim 5.

II. If applicants elect glycolipid, a specific glycolipid must also be elected from claim 6.

B. A specific antigen as stated in claims 7, 8, 9, 11, 12 and 19-21.

III. If applicant's ^{elect}influenza virus, a specific influenza antigen must also be elected from claim 10.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species from each group listed above to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

- A. Claims 3-6 and 16-18 require a specific adjuvant, all other claims are generic.
- B. Claims 7-12 and 19-21 require a specific antigen, all other claims are generic.

The following claim(s) are generic: all claims are generic.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: each adjuvant and antigen are distinct and would require different searches.

Summary

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
